The Boys Are Back in Town!

by RP Taylor

“What boys are back in town? Boys, what boys?” Excuse me, but I don’t literally mean boys.

IJF WORLD VETERANS JUDO CHAMPIONSHIPS 2022

THE BOYS ARE BACK IN TOWN

I mean the gentlemen who represented Eastside Dojo as a part of the USA Veterans World Team. On September 5th, these gentlemen flew about 12 hours to Krakow to compete in judo at one of the highest levels.

The consensus of the group of 7, is that it was an excellent trip. From competing, win or lose, to touring, everyone was able to bond and had a great time. For some, it was their first time competing internationally, but for others they had been there before. Not necessarily to Krakow, but to this level of competition. Experienced or novice at this tournament, every single judoka on the team felt as if they belonged. They were confident in all of the hours they had committed to training preceding this auspicious event.

Although none of the Eastside judoka made it to the podium, they all fought very well. While Russ Hogan finished in 7th place, a couple of the men finished in 5th place:

- Tyler Blocker
- Gyula Kalman
- Alan Shebaro

Members of the team spoke about the amazing feeling of being called to the mat to compete on the other side of the world, and hearing your teammates cheering for you. It was explained that representing the USA gave them a euphoric feeling that filled them with pride for their country. Without fail, they all are looking forward to returning to the Veterans World Tournament in 2023.
